

Education road show in Dubai today

Staff Reporter

DUBAI — The first annual ‘Think Education, Think Intelligent’ University Fair will host an education road show at the Conference Centre in Dubai Knowledge Village today.

Representatives from universities in the UK, the US and Canada will provide students with counselling to help them make the best education choices.

“Universities have been invited keeping in mind the needs of students in the UAE. It provides them with a unique opportunity to meet the university representatives and discuss aspects related to their future,” says Deepika Chainani, executive officer — Student Services.

This education fair is the beginning of a series of events that will be hosted by Intelligent Partners over the coming few months to provide students with direct access to university admission officers. The fair will focus on providing information regarding college financing and university applications, and experts from Intelligent Partners will provide counselling for admissions at the venue.

Visiting universities include Oregon State University, Study Group US, James Madison University, Manhattan College, Lancaster University, Manchester Metropolitan University, Study Group UK, University of Wales Newport, Herriot Watt University, Liverpool John Moore, Kingston University, Sussex University, Surrey University, Navitas, University of Plymouth. — muaz@khaleejtimes.com